The Daily Courant.

Monday, January 6. 1707.

From the Amſterdam Courant of January 11. which came on Saturday laſt by the way of Flanders.

Turin, December 18.

THE 11th Inſtant in the Evening the Duke arriv'd here in good Health. His Royal Highneſs would not be receiv'd by the Princes his Sons without the City, becauſe it rain'd hard, but they receiv'd him at the Foot of the great Staircaſe of the Palace, as did his Dutcheſs on the Middle of the Stairs, and the Dutcheſs Dowager in the Hall of the Switzers. The 13th his Royal Highneſs's whole Equipage came hither, ſo that 'tis believ'd he will ſtay here all the reſt of the Winter. The Palace of the Prince of Carignan is fitting up for Prince Eugene of Savoy, who is ſhortly expected to come hither for a few Days. The 16th the Duke attended by Ingeniers took a View of our Citadel and its Out-works, and has caus'd the Ground to be mark'd out for making a Counterguard to cover thoſe Out-works. The Equipage of the late Governour of Cazal, which is very magnificent, is paſs'd through this City for France; and 'tis ſaid that Governour, who is now at Vercelli, has obtain'd Leave to go to Paris on his Parole. The City of Cazal were willing to give the Duke 80000 Crowns for Contributions; but his Royal Highneſs being taken with that Expreſſion of their Good-Will, would take but 50000; only obliging the Inhabitants to furniſh the Garriſon with Oyl and Wood this Winter. The whole Monferrat is rated at 1000 Crowns a Day in Lieu of Winter-Quarters. Valenza is block'd up very cloſe; the Garriſon conſiſts of 300 Swiſs and 200 French. 100 Cannon and Mortars are providing for attacking the Caſtle of Milan. His Royal Highneſs has declar'd he will make Cazal as ſtrong as Vercelli was formerly. After the Caſtle of Milan is taken, the Fort of Suſa will be attack'd, that the Enemy may be driven the further out of this Country, and the freer Trade be open'd.

Vienna, Dec. 29. We have confirm'd Advice from the Turkiſh Frontiers, that the Porte had aſſur'd the Imperial Envoy M. Guarient, at his Audience of Leave, that they would continue in firm Peace and Friendſhip with the Emperour; which occaſions great Joy here. 'Tis ſaid that if Prince Eugene be fix'd in the Government of the Milaneze, Count Guido Staremberg will be made Preſident of the Council of War at this Court in his Room. The Emperour has ſignified to M. Hamel Bruyninx, Envoy of the States General, that he can by no Means allow the Malecontents of Hungary to have any Guarantees of a Treaty of Accommodation between him and them, nor the Tranſilvanians to elect their Prince, nor yield to the recalling of his German Troops out of Hungary, as long as the Truce of Carlowitz with the Turks laſts; but that if the ſaid Malecontents are deſirous to renew the Negociation of Peace, they may have a Suſpenſion of Arms this Winter, tho' not in the Summer the Seaſon of Action. We are not without Apprehenſion here, that the Swedes will pretend they cannot continue longer in Saxony, and therefore muſt come into Sileſia; the rather becauſe 'tis rumour'd, that they will re-eſtabliſh the Churches of the Proteſtants which are ſuppreſs'd in that Country.

Ratisbon, Jan. 2. The King of Pruſſia has by his Deputies here ſignified to the Proteſtant Miniſters, that the King of Sweden had caus'd a Repreſentation to be made that the Affairs of Religion in the Empire ought to be laid more to Heart; that ſo the 4th Article of the Treaty of Reſwick (as being illegal and without the Conſent of the Empire contriv'd by Roman Catholicks,) may be annull'd, and the Treaty of Munſter ſo far as it concerns Religion be reſtor'd to its due Force.

Berlin, Jan. 4. Letters from Dreſden of the 1ſt Inſtant adviſe, that there and throughout all Saxony Te Deum had been ſung in all the Churches in Thanſgiving for the Peace; and that at Dreſden the Cannon on the Ramparts were fir'd. That the King of Sweden continued to raiſe Men throughout the whole Electorate, not only to fill up his old Regiments, but to make 10 new ones, which are to be in a Condition for Service by the beginning of the enſuing Campaign. King Auguſtus makes Levies likewiſe, chiefly in the Towns. The Advices from Poland are, that thoſe who were of King Auguſtus's Party have no Inclination for King Staniſlaus, not enduring to have a King impos'd upon them, and moſt of the Inhabitants of the great Dukedom of Lithuania are of the ſame Mind. The King of Pruſſia has given out Commiſſions for raiſing 11 new Regiments, that whatever Turn the Affairs of Saxony take he may be provided againſt all Events. My Lord Raby was Yeſterday with M. Roſehahn, the Swediſh Miniſter here, and ask'd him in plain Terms whether the King of Sweden in encreaſing his Forces had any Deſign againſt the Empire and its Allies; and was anſwer'd, that the Queen of England and the high Allies might depend upon it the Meaſures the King of Sweden might take would give them no uneaſineſs.

Francfort, Jan. 5. A Report is ſpread, that Prince Lewis of Baden died on Friday laſt, but we have an Account from good Hands that he is ſtill living, tho' in a very languiſhing Condition. 'Tis adviſ'd from Italy, that a ſufficient Number of Gabions and 30 heavy Connon and Mortars were already brought to Milan in Order to the Attacking of that Caſtle.

Liege, Jan. 7. They write from Liſle, that 'twas reported there the King of France will come down to the Frontier at the opening of the Campaign, and that Madam Maintenon (whoſe Advice in the moſt ſecret and moſt important Affairs ſways him more now than ever) will accompany him.

Paris, Jan. 3. The March of Prince Tſerclaes de Tilly with a Body of Troops towards Saragoſſa, was occaſion'd by a Conſpiracy form'd to deliver up that City to him; but that Conſpiracy being diſcover'd to the Enemy by ſome Perſons engag'd in it, the reſt of the Conſpirators were ſecur'd; and the Archduke moving that Way likewiſe with ſome Troops, the Prince de Tilly found his Deſign fruſtrated. 'Tis ſaid there was alſo a Deſign form'd againſt Barcelona. A Report has been ſpread that the Dauphin would command one of our Armies the enſuing Campaign, but 'tis ſuppos'd that Report was given out by the Court to make the World believe they deſign'd the Elector of Bavaria ſhould command on the Rhine.

Amſterdam, Jan. 10. Letters from Genoa of the 18th of December advise, that the 15th my Lord Peterborough ſail'd from thence with 4 Men of War for Barcelona, taking with him 125000 Piſtoles, and Bills to a conſiderable Value: And that they had a Report there, that 8 Ships of War were put to Sea from Toulon. The Tranſports with the Recruits for Portugal, &c, are ſail'd from the Texel with their Convoy.
